

Ways to Become Involved with the Democratic Party of Hawaii

- Become a Precinct Officer:

- The Democrats are looking for leaders in the field to be in charge of coordinating all campaign activities within their precinct, working with other precinct officers in larger initiatives and becoming a front line champion for the Democratic Party and its candidates.

You'll be making a big difference in a big way by :

- Building Precinct Teams to promote our causes.
  - Working with candidates and their campaigns.
  - Being our “eyes and ears” to tell us about community activities.
  - Working to get others involved to get out the vote on Election day.
- If you're willing to turn your 'passion into action,' we're here to help you.
  - Contact the Democratic Party of Hawaii:

2006 will be an Exciting and Important year for Hawaii Democrats!

As we saw in 2004, Hawaii played an important part in the closing days of the election. Once again we must fight for our beliefs and values. Together, we will make a better Hawaii.

1. By supporting our Congressional leaders and working to take back the U. S. House and Senate.

- Holding the Republicans accountable for a government riddled with corruption.
- Put our nation back on track by controlling runaway spending and investing in working families rather than lining the pockets of the wealthy.
- Helping build a strong nation that is respected around the world.
- Protecting our precious environment for years to come.

2. By fighting to put a Governor in office that isn't beholden to Washington and the Religious Right.

- Lingle claims to be a moderate, but spent the last election being one of Bush's biggest campaigners.
- Saying the schools had enough money, she campaigned to increase bureaucracy with local school boards.
- And instead of a plan for maintaining our quality of life, Hawaii's faced with traffic snarls and increasing congestion.

3. By helping to insure that we have strong majorities in both the State Senate and State House to protect our land and its people.

- Democrats have taken bold steps to protect Hawaii's environment.
- Democrats know that it's going to take a real commitment to Hawaii's teachers and schools to make a difference for our children.
- Democrats have what it takes to protect those so desperately in need of help.

Now is the time to act. Polls have shown that a majority of Hawaii's people reject Bush and the Republican agenda. Let's work together to support Hawaii's Democrats.
